NOGI'S PURPOSE IS NOW ACCOMPLISHED.

Russian Fleet at Port Arthur Wrecked and His Guns Cut off Supplies.

Although Taking of Meter Hill Cost Japanese Thousands of Men, Its Possession Gives Them Most Powerful Leverage Against Stubborn Fortress—Russians Preparing to Make Last Stand on Liaodun Mount.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, Dec. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The capture of Two Hundred and Three Meter Hill and parallel lines on Rihang and Shungshu mountains has destroyed Port Arthur harbor as a place of refuge for Russian ships and has made it impossible for merchant steamers to run the blockade at night. Were the latter to come into the harbor they would be blown to pieces in the morning, before their cargoes could be landed.

Not only are the vessels in the harbor wrecked, but none can come to the relief of the garrison with food.

The whole situation is now in the hands of Gen. Nogi and it is not likely any man will be further sacrificed in taking the last line of redoubts held by Gen. Stessel. He cannot be relieved either by land or by sea and the Japanese commander, in all probability, will await his surrender, which cannot long be delayed, because he lacks both food supplies and water.

RETREAT TO LAOTISHAN.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The World's Shanghai correspondent says:

"All the Russians in Port Arthur except the fighting men, who constitute the garrison in the forts, have retreated to Laotishan, the height at the southernmost part of the peninsula, situated about six miles southwest of the town and across the harbor. This strongly fortified height is 1500 feet above sea level. That is their final position. The Japanese works designed for attacking the line of forts near Shungshu are progressing rapidly."

The Russian forts at Taiyangchow are commanded by Two Hundred and Three Meter Hill.

ROJESTVENSKY HALTED.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Dec. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A dispatch to the Express from St. Petersburg says definite instructions have been sent to Admiral Rojestvensky not to proceed to the Far East. The admiral took the matter into his own hands and issued an order despite the opposition of the Grand Duke. The Baltic fleet will now probably remain at various ports until the possibility of service are so remote that the public will have forgotten its original mission.

TOKIO, Dec. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Imperial army board tonight gave out a statement showing a loss of 4000 killed and 12,000 wounded in the five-days' battle which culminated in the capture of Two Hundred and Three Meter Hill.

DETAILS OF CAPTURE.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Dec. 10.—[After Midnight Dispatch.] Details continue to filter in of the capture of Two Hundred and Three Meter Hill.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent before Port Arthur explains that the capture was due to a strong feat against the eastern fortifications on the night of December 5 which the position of Two Hundred and Three Meter Hill, being an enfilading one, forced the Russians to evacuate without contest, to a parallel line of semi-permanent defenses extending eastward and irregularly over the hills, within a half mile north of the main position.

The Japanese casualties at Two Hundred and Three Meter Hill alone exceeded the total of the battle of Manchuria, according to the Daily Mail's Tokyo dispatches.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, November 29, a Tomoyasu detachment, with a battalion of infantry and a company of engineers, received orders that they must capture Two Hundred and Three Meter Hill, while a Yong detachment of the same strength had similar orders to capture Akasaka Hill. November 30, it became necessary to reinforce the attackers with a detachment under Maj. Shizuta.

resulted in thirty-six hits, causing great damage."

THE BAYAN STILL ABLAZE.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Dec. 9.—A dispatch to the Japanese Legation from Tokio, dated today, says:

"The naval staff at Port Arthur reports that, Thursday evening, the Pallada was set on fire and heeled to port, with her stern sunk. Eleven shots hit the Gilyak (gunboat)."

"The Bayan took fire at 11:30 and in all, above, 4:15."

"The Amur (transport) was hit fourteen times and sank."

"Many shots greatly damaged the warehouses and other buildings near Pei Yu Mountain, and the arsenal."

MAIN OBJECT ATTAINED.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Dec. 9, evening.—In disabling the Russian fleet at Port Arthur, precluding the possibility of its being able to reinforce the Russian Second Pacific squadron, the Japanese have accomplished the main object of the desperate assault against the fortress which they have been making for the past three months. There is now a strong probability that, while continuing the siege, they will avoid losses of the magnitude already attending their efforts and instead of assaulting will rely on starving out the garrison until it is finally captured.

RUSSIANS NON-RESISTING.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Dec. 9, 5 p.m.—Considerable astonishment is expressed here, over the fact that the Russians are so far from resisting the capture of the Port Arthur fleet. In certain quarters, the opinion is entertained that the Russians opened the smokestacks of the submerged vessels so as to lessen their exposure to the Japanese fire. The recent cessation of mine clearing was taken as an evidence that the fleet did not intend to make a sortie.

There was no sign of life on the Russian ships during the bombardment, and from this fact it is concluded that the bluejackets took refuge on land or that they are engaged in the land defenses.

With the Russian Second Pacific squadron approaching, there is no doubt that the Japanese will be able to capture the fleet, even at the cost of weakening the effective garrison.

Now that the Pacific fleet has been disabled, it is almost impossible for the Russians to overcome the inferiority of the Second Pacific squadron to Togo's fleet, unless, at present, unforeseen, the Black Sea fleet should pass the Dardanelles.

MANY OFFICERS KILLED.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Dec. 9, 10:30 a.m.—Imperial army headquarters has published a list of thirty-six officers killed and fifty-eight wounded. No mention is made of where these casualties occurred, but it was presumably at Port Arthur.

STOESSEL OVERRULED.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HEADQUARTERS OF THE JAPANESE THIRD ARMY BEFORE PORT ARTHUR, Via Fusan, Dec. 9.—The Japanese regard the refusal of the Russians to accept an armistice, which has been asked for and granted for the purpose of gathering the killed and wounded on Two Hundred and Three Meter Hill, as the overruling of the humane desire of Gen. Stoessel by the officers commanding the forts. It was feared by these officers, the Japanese think, that their men would desert and give the Japanese the advantage of information regarding the forts.

Russian prisoners report that Gen. Stoessel's order was overruled by the garrison commanders.

Predicted Smash in Copper Fails.

Wall Street is Filled With Rumors, One Being That He "Petered Out."

Thomas is Busy in Court, but Promises That He Will Do Things.

Market Booms While Smasher is Engaged With Some Gas Litigation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas W. Lawson, the terror of Standard Oil and Amalgamated Copper, remained silent today. Not a single message came to his New York clients from Boston, and as a result, the great smash in Amalgamated which has been predicted for today failed to materialize. The closing prices were the highest since.

The street was filled with rumors, one being that Standard Oil and the Boston manipulator had come to an understanding, but prominent operators denounced the report as absurd. They say that with Lawson it is simply a case of "peter out." One firm received a private dispatch from Boston saying that Lawson and J. H. Rogers had been in conference all morning at the Hotel Touraine. Another private dispatch to a different house said: "It is asserted on good authority that H. H. Rogers has been a recent visitor to Boston; that he came over on Wednesday's midnight train and got off at Back Bay station. It is also rumored in quarters where close friends of Rogers are known, that he is a victim of 'Dreamworld.' Dreamworld is Lawson's residence."

When the exchange opened, the market swung back and forth, while everybody asked: "What does Lawson say today?" As soon as it was learned that Lawson was busy in court with some gas litigation, professional Wall Street got busy, and the market began to boom. Lawson, however, promises to smash the market again. He has given his word that he will begin litigation against the Amalgamated Copper Company that will "pull the bottom out" from the market for its shares. He has promised to shake the foundations of Standard Oil, at No. 26 Broadway, and that of the great life insurance companies. All this is yet to come, and conservative bankers are not enthusiastic at the outlook.

Amalgamated Copper, which Lawson broke yesterday from 69 1/2 to 58 1/2, closed last night at 60; opened this morning at 65; broke to 63 1/2, and shot up to 69. Leather, which he broke from 19 to 12 1/2, had rebounded to 20 by noon. Steel preferred which he sent to 84, sold at 89 1/2. Reading went up from the panic price, 73, to 77. Other shares moved along similar lines.

FOR CANAL CONTRACTS.

Tremendous Fight by Great Moneyed Powers for Work on the Isthmus. McDonald Plans War on August Belmont.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two powerful moneyed powers stand ready to back the next four years. The break between McDonald and Belmont is the possible explanation for the sudden resignation of Chief Engineer William Barclay Parsons of the Rapid Transit Commission. Engineer Parsons is related by Belmont to J. P. Morgan's aid's place.

Engineer Parsons today declared that he was to open a private office January 1 for business on his own account, and that he had made no arrangements to associate himself with Belmont.

At Belmont's office today, it was stated that no information was to be given relative to the resignation of McDonald from the Interborough, or the report that Engineer Parsons was to be Belmont's right-hand man. The present situation forebodes a tremendous fight to be made by great moneyed interests for the rich contract connected with the Panama Canal work.

"I am too busy to take up any of the matters," he said.

"What are you busy with?" he was asked.

"Sawin' wood," was the quick retort.

HE OUTWITS AUTHORITIES.

Crazy Man Marks Gets Best of Postal Detectives.

Latest Device of Pursuer of Rev. John A. Bedient.

Town Flooded With Circulars Attacking Minister.

Despite the keen supervision that the detectives of the United States postal service keep on Uncle Sam's mail bags and what goes into them, they have been twice cunningly outwitted by a crazy man. As a result, Los Angeles has been two years in an asylum for the insane, that his father has been in the same asylum for twenty-six years; both for this kind of religious fanaticism. Mr. Marks was formerly a successful salesman in one of the largest dry goods firms in Boston; a man of some property, with considerable education and refinement, and connected with some of the best families in Massachusetts.

"He has been writing letters about me and others for the last ten years. How far he is reasonable and how far insane the public will have to decide. I have done what I could to protect the public from his letters."

"I referred the matter to the Post-office Department, which seems to have done what it could. The public will have to protect itself—if it can, which is no easy matter in this case. It seems to belong to the State of Massachusetts."

SANDBAGGER SLUGS GIRL.

Miss Nellie Tangney Victim of Savage Attack.

Felled to Her Knees and Her Scalp Gashed.

Russian Deals Ugly Blow but Doesn't Rob.

The murderous ruffian who sandbagger women after dark is abroad. He felled Miss Nellie Tangney, a dressmaker, to her knees on the pavement, and of No. 451 South Flower street, at 10:15 o'clock last night. Her scalp was gashed open and she was rendered all but unconscious by the savage blow. The thug made no attempt to rob her or offer further assault, but ran lightly away across a vacant lot when his victim began to scream.

These screams probably saved Miss Tangney's life, for they brought hurrying to her assistance Dr. H. B. H. Montgomery, who, walking home with his wife from a patient's bedside, had just passed the girl and was not more than half a block away when the outrage was committed.

Miss Tangney's story, as told by her last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bakeman, No. 451 West Fourth street, is as follows:

NO WORD SPOKEN.

"A friend of mine, a Miss Harris, who lives on Flower street a few doors south of Eighth, called on me this evening, as she often does. When she started for home about 10 o'clock, I walked with her, as I have done several times before. We walked together to the corner of Flower and Seventh and stood a moment on the sidewalk. Then we said good night and parted, she going on to her home and I started back to mine."

"It is very, very dark on Flower between Sixth and Fourth streets. As I walked a distance of about a block, I noticed a man coming along behind me, maybe half a block away. I quickened my steps, but half-way between Fifth and Fourth he caught up with me, and without saying a word, caught me by the shoulder with one hand. I thought he was trying to 'push' me. I turned and tried to spring away but he held my shoulder and struck me three fearful blows here on the top of my head," pointing to an ugly, star-shaped gash two inches above the forehead.

"It stunned me and I went to my knees, but I know I screamed loud three or four times. As I went to my knees the man—the man—dark clothes and a black derby—came forward and stood over me. He was dressed in a suit, a white shirt, a dark tie, and a dark coat. He was a Russian, I think. Then he said good night and ran away. I turned and saw his face staring into mine—let go my shoulder, and when I screamed he stopped beating me over the head and ran away. I think across a vacant lot that was there."

"Then this good doctor came to help me, and his wife, and another man, and they helped me into a house. No, the robber made no attempt to take anything from me; I had no purse or valuables with me."

DOCTOR'S STATEMENT.

Dr. Montgomery said, while dressing Miss Tangney's wound:

"My wife and I had been to see a patient of mine on Temple street, and were walking home. We had gotten nearly a block and a half beyond Fourth street, going north on Flower, when a woman's screaming startled us. I ran back and found Miss Tangney, as she has been described. Neither my wife caught any glimpse of the footpad, either before or after the assault."

The house in front of which the sandbagger occurred, and the one into which the wounded girl was taken, is No. 451 South Flower street, where lives Miss A. L. Hill and her mother, Mrs. A. L. Hill. Miss Hill said last night:

"We had just returned from church and had put out the lights preparatory to going upstairs to bed. As we reached the foot of the stairs the most awful screams came from the street below. 'Help! Help! Help! Help!'

"We threw up the parlor blinds; and there was a man and a woman. The woman was a good bit from her head, and there was a man and a woman. The doctor who brought her in did what he could for her here, and then they took her home."

The presence of the sand and gravel in Miss Tangney's hair was taken as conclusive proof that she was in the street when the assault occurred. The woman was wearing a tan-colored coat came proving about her premises, evidently bent on effecting an entrance. Nittner's bulldog, chained up, gave the alarm and the fellow slunk away after Nittner had assured him of sudden death as an alternative to immediate disappearance.

Miss Hill herself stated last night that on her way home from church, shortly before 10 o'clock, she noticed a man acting queerly on South Flower street. He made believe to search for some lost article in the street, but evidently was keeping Miss Hill in sight and reach. She retreated the way she and came. She thinks the same man a little later assaulted Miss Tangney.

The Life of A Watch

depends on how well it is cared for and also how well contrived its mechanism.

This applies to "case" and "movement" alike.

Some movements are "built" not in accord with accepted horological principles and when the parts are assembled reveal a condition that is little better than top-heavy.

"Montgomery Bros." movements are composed of substantially selected materials and are assembled with great care and accuracy.

"Montgomery Bros." movements are the most perfect constructed of the kind ever made and are guaranteed to keep accurate for years.

It takes expert skill and expert service to make a watch run accurately. The cases of medium and heavy make. Value guaranteed.

A Few Prices:

Montgomery Bros. High-grade movements of either 15, 17 or 19 jewels construction, according to the cases of medium and heavy make. Value guaranteed.

Saturday is Another Children's Day at Hamburger's

So successful and so popular was our Children's Day of last week that we have decided to again throw open our store for the little folks' amusement and shopping today. While it would seem that there were no children in Los Angeles who were not here last week; yet those who did not come, will have an opportunity, and those who were here before, will be very glad to repeat their visit for children are the most interested in toyland and doll-dom and they can see more of this merchandise in this store than in all the other stores combined and will have no difficulty in selecting the things they want Santa Claus to bring. Santa Claus will again be here Saturday for this is his headquarters and at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. will make descensions from our roof with a full pack of toys that have been selected and are to be laid away for some of his little friends. Santa Claus will be in the basement salesroom all day to listen to the wants of his little friends and will present each child with candy, a word about our window decorations. We have duplicated the circus window we had in a short time ago which was so popular with the children and are satisfied that even parents will consider it worth coming miles to see for such a novelty in window decorations, using holiday goods, has never before been seen in this city and it is a typical circus in miniature.

Specially Selected Items from Toyland and Doll-dom for Saturday's Selling

While the children will naturally be down here Saturday and will see everything offered, yet it is just as well in advance to center their attention on some of the very best values in our Christmas stocks that they may ask Santa to supply their wants and make a special appeal that he purchase the toys and dolls earlier for them before he has picked them out for some other little boys and girls. We would say to parents that you will not find as large stocks of specially fine toys at any other store in the city and as we have imported these higher grades direct, it is impossible to duplicate them elsewhere. As judges of quality you will be satisfied that our prices are reasonable.
